

Winter Oil Check List

Follow our check list to ensure your oil heating system is prepared for winter before the colder weather starts

Order your oil early

Topping up your tank as early as you can ensures you beat the busy winter rush, when our delivery times are likely to increase.

Regularly check your oil level

It is important to monitor your oil level during the winter months, to avoid running dry when you will need oil the most. A quick fall in temperatures could catch you off guard and mean you are using more oil than you think.

(Installing a Watchman Sonic could make checking your oil levels easier. For more information visit our website or speak to our Boiler Maintenance Department.)

Check for damage

It is recommended that you check your tank, pipes and other equipment for leaks, damage and interference once a week.

(Why not check your oil level at the same time? )

Service your boiler

Minimise the risk of an unexpected breakdown and have your boiler serviced before the crucial winter months.
